A Guide to the Birds of East Africa Nicholas Drayson 2009-03-05 For lovers of Alexander McCall Smith, Nicholas Drayson introduces the charming Mr Malik and the East African Ornithological Society in A Guide to the Birds of East Africa. Reserved, honourable Mr Malik. You wouldn't notice him in a Nairobi street - except, perhaps, to comment on his carefully sculpted comb-over - but beneath his unprepossessing exterior lie a warm heart and a secret passion. Not even his closest friends know it, but Mr Malik is head-over-heels in love with the leader of the local Tuesday-morning bird walk, Rose Mbikwa. Little can he imagine the hurdles that lie before him. Even as he plucks up the courage to ask for Rose's hand, thieves, potential kidnappers and corrupt officials, not to mention one particularly determined love rival, seem destined to thwart Mr Malik's chances. Will an Indian gentleman in the heart of Africa be defeated by the many obstacles that stand between him and his heart's desire? Or will honour and decency prevail? 'A funny, ingenious and touching love story' Joanne Harris, The Times 'A delightful comedy... It invites comparison to The No.1 Ladies' Detective Agency books, but it's original and, if anything, has more depth' Daily Mail 'Sweet, charming and utterly wonderful on the subject of birds' Metro Nicholas Drayson was born in England and has lived in Australia since 1982, where he studied zoology and a PhD in 19th century Australian natural history writing. He has worked as a journalist in the UK, Kenya and Australia, writing for publications such as the Daily Telegraph and Australian Geographic. He is the author of three other novels, Confessing a Murder, Love and the Platypus and A Guide to the Beasts of East Africa.

The Serpent and the Rainbow Wade Davis 2010-10-05 A scientific investigation and personal adventure story about zombis and the voodoo culture of Haiti by a Harvard scientist. In April 1982, ethnobotanist Wade Davis arrived in Haiti to investigate two documented cases of zombis—people who had reappeared in Haitian society years after they had been officially declared dead and had been buried. Drawn into a netherworld of rituals and celebrations, Davis penetrated the vodoun mystique deeply enough to place zombification in its proper context within vodoun culture. In the course of his investigation, Davis came to realize that the story of vodoun is the history of Haiti—from the African origins of its people to the successful Haitian independence movement, down to the present day, where vodoun culture is, in effect, the government of Haiti's countryside. The Serpent and the Rainbow combines anthropological investigation with a remarkable personal adventure to illuminate and finally explain a phenomenon that has long fascinated Americans.

ATX: Outbreak Michael Finley 2017-10-23 Cattle in five states began displaying vague central nervous system symptoms at essentially the same time. Diagnostic protocols were followed revealing inconclusive laboratory results. The USDA sent samples from the affected cattle to an international reference laboratory in England. They also detailed teams of veterinary experts to each premise to conduct comprehensive investigations. ATX Feeders in Hereford, Texas was one of the involved sites. Dr. Penny Adams, a USDA veterinary pathologist, is charged with investigating the ATX Hereford feedlot. Penny, a chic blond-haired thirty-something beauty, also holds a PhD in Molecular Biology. Randy Bennett, DVM is Director of ATX Feeders and son of Randall Bennett. Randy, is a ruggedly handsome thirty-something professional steer roper who regularly competes in rodeos. Randall, Chairman of ATX Holdings, owns a diversified self-made empire based out of Amarillo, Texas. Each of Randall's eight children, or their spouse, run a division of the holding company's businesses. Randy and Penny were attracted to one another as soon as they met. Their relationship grew as they worked together in hopes of finding the cause for this mysterious disease. As Penny and her team of veterinary experts began their investigation, cattle at two other ATX feedlots began displayed neurological symptoms. To allow their relationship to grow, Randy asked Randall for his help. The British reference lab, using their electron microscope, identified the agent. However, where it came from remained a mystery until Randy and Penny examined Randy's roping steers. With the help of others, it became clear this was an ingenious act of bioterrorism. As the USDA worked to contain the disease, indemnify affected cattle owners, and develop a method to destroy over 12 million diseased cattle; the Department of Homeland Security began a terrorism investigation. A sophisticated financial plot was unraveled whereby the terrorists would profit from the effects of the outbreak as well as devastate American agriculture. Obtaining enough evidence to prosecute was another matter. Grammar of the Film Language Daniel Arijon 1991 A unique guide to the visual narrative techniques that form the "language" of filmmaking. Nothing But Trouble Michael McGarrity 2006-12-05 Santa Fe Police Chief Kevin Kerney is back in the tenth and most entertaining novel in Michael McGarrity's acclaimed mystery series. After years away on the pro rodeo circuit, Johnny Jordan struts into Santa Fe to ask his boyhood friend, Santa Fe Police Chief Kevin Kerney, to serve as a technical advisor on a contemporary Western movie to be filmed along the Mexican border. Kerney agrees and plans a working vacation on location, in a remote area of the state known as the Bootheel, with his wife, Lt. Colonel Sara Brannon, and their three-year-old son, Patrick. But, a dead man on the road near an isolated border crossing, a federal undercover investigation into immigrant smuggling, the search for a fugitive from military justice hiding somewhere in Europe, and Johnny Jordan's troublesome behavior all ensure that nothing goes as planned. As separate investigations embroil them in circumstances that will forever change their lives, Kerney must care for Patrick while Sara plays a dangerous game of Pentagon politics. Packed with family secrets, international intrigue, and memorable characters, this is McGarrity's most ambitious and involving novel to date-- traveling an accelerating arc from Santa Fe to the desert grasslands and mountains of the Bootheel, to the most secret levels of the Pentagon, to a resort town on the coast of Ireland, and back to an adrenaline-charged climax on a desolate landing strip a few miles north of the Mexican border.

In this new "diary," author Richard Binder takes a radical new approach to telling the story of the worst conflict humanity has ever experienced. Instead of trying to cover everything, he relates the happenings of just 366 days, the length of a single year. Choosing events great and small from the beginning of the war to its bitter end, he gives you a fascinating and sometimes shocking look at things you know from your high-school history and things you may never have heard of.
